4. POSITION PURPOSE

The Mental Health and Emergency (MH/ED) Blended Graduate Nurse Program is a specialised program designed to support newly registered nurses to develop foundational clinical skills, confidence, and professional capability across both Acute Mental Health and Emergency care settings.

Commencing in January each year, the program provides graduates with rotational experience in Mental Health Services and the Emergency Department, supporting skill development at the interface of mental health and acute care.

During the Mental Health rotation, graduates complete a six-month placement within the Acute Inpatient Service (AIS), providing beginner-level care in accordance with the National Practice Standards for the Mental Health Workforce (2013). Graduates support consumers with serious mental illness and high recovery needs within the Yarra and Boroondara catchments, working collaboratively with multidisciplinary teams and the Lived Experience workforce. A structured education and training program supports competency development, with completion of all clinical and academic requirements mandatory. Successful completion provides recognition of prior learning towards a postgraduate diploma in mental health nursing, with opportunities for ongoing employment subject to performance.

During the Emergency Department rotation, graduates will provide care for a diverse range of adult clinical presentations including care of critically unwell and deteriorating patients, acute medical and surgical conditions, mental health, alcohol and other drugs, palliative care, and correctional health. Graduates will be supported by senior nursing staff and the multidisciplinary team to provide care and compassion to socially vulnerable and marginalised people in the community and promote incorporation of social justice and advocacy into evidence-based clinical practice to ensure that all patients receive the best possible care.

Graduates will rotate through the different areas of the emergency department including the acute cubicles, short stay units, MHAOD Hub and Fast Track to complete learning objectives and consolidate emergency nursing knowledge and clinical skills.
