FREE
Webinar
Series

Dear Colleagues,

It is my pleasure to invite you to the 27th National Hepatitis Symposium.

Due to the current restrictions on meetings and interstate travel, this year we will be hosting the event as a free three-part webinar series. The Symposium will include local and international presenters who will provide an important update on the treatment and management of patients with viral hepatitis, fatty liver disease and hepatocellular carcinoma.

To register, please use the link below. Registering for any of the meetings, will give you immediate access to all meetings in the series.

I look forward to your attendance and participation.
Take care and all the best,

Professor Alex Thompson
